

Available continuation points; finite-h energies are not phase comparisons

